

"A commitment to scholarly work carries with it a responsibility to circulate that work as widely as possible: this is the access principle. In the digital age, that responsibility includes exploring new publishing technologies and economic models to improve access to scholarly work. Wide circulation adds value to published work; it is a significant aspect of its claim to be knowledge. The right to know and the right to be known are inextricably mixed. Open Access can benefit both" (Willinsky, 2010).

Advantages of submitting to Research Space.

- ◆ Free availability of UKZN scholarly publications.
- ◆ Materials are available online.
- ◆ Materials are full text.
- ◆ Materials can be accessed by anybody from anywhere without discrimination.
- ◆ Open Access content can be in any format from texts and data to software, audio, video, and multi-media, scholarly articles and their preprints.

Materials on Research Space can be used for study and research and therefore can be copied/downloaded etc., for personal use ONLY.

Any form of copying for distribution purposes requires copyright permission from author/university .

For further information contact:

Miss Lindiwe Gumede
Institutional Repository Consultant
Phone: (031) 260 2845
E-mail: gumedel@ukzn.ac.za

For subject specific queries contact Principal Librarians below:

Westville Library:

Beharilal, Richard
Tel. (031) 260 7450
E-mail: Beharilalr@ukzn.ac.za

Howard College Library:

Bhengu-Magwaza, Faith
Tel. (031) 260 2062
E-mail: Bhengun1@ukzn.ac.za

Pietermaritzburg Library:

Ncongwane, Goitsewang
Tel. (031) 260 5062
E-mail: Ncongwaneg4@ukzn.ac.za

Edgewood & Medical School Library:

Naidoo, Praba
Tel. (031) 260 3962 (Edgewood)
(031) 260 4788 (Medical School)
E-mail: Naidoop11@ukzn.ac.za

University of KwaZulu-Natal Institutional Repository

Submit your research to the repository.

<http://researchspace.ukzn.ac.za/xmlui/>

Or

Download QR Code Reader from your Apps store, scan me and click register.

What is Research Space?

Research Space is an institutional repository of the University of KwaZulu-Natal which was developed to disseminate and manage digital materials created by researchers of our institution.

The General Rules of the University require every post-graduate student to submit two final, corrected copies of their dissertation, research report or thesis in a printed format as well as a final, corrected copy in electronic format.

The availability of UKZN theses and dissertations in electronic format will increase the visibility of the institution's research output locally and internationally.

Types of materials in Research Space

- ◆ Theses and Dissertations.
- ◆ Research Articles.
- ◆ Chapters in books.
- ◆ Conference Proceedings.
- ◆ Sound Recordings.

Submitting to Research Space.

"Select Collection" step: If not already selected, select a collection to deposit the item into.

"Describe" step: Enter descriptive metadata about the Item. This step may consist of one or more pages of metadata entry. By default, there are two pages for metadata-entry.

"Upload" step: upload one or more files associated with the Item.

"Review" step: Check all previous information entered, and correct anything as needed.

"Distribution License" step: Tick the box to give consent to repository distribution license in order to complete the submission.

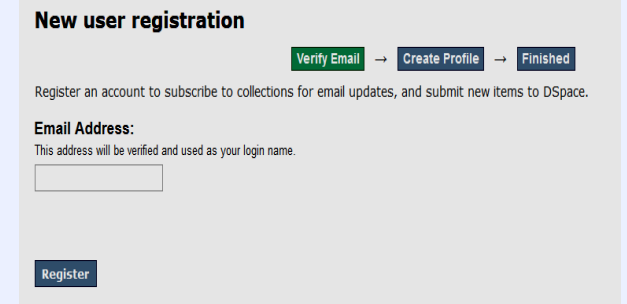

"Complete" step: The deposit is now completed. The Item will either become immediately available or undergo a workflow approval process (depending on the Collection policies).

Use the link below to register and submit research articles.

<http://researchspace.ukzn.ac.za/xmlui/>

You will be redirected to the page below. The administrator will received an email and you will be added as the submitter.